Southern California Dance Theatre's mission statement:

The Southern California Dance Theatre is a not-for-profit dance company founded in 1994, which seeks to involve the diverse community of the Greater Long Beach area, especially youth, in exploring the many facets of dance productions and theater arts.

With its main focus on dance performances and arts education, the Southern California Dance Theatre seeks to foster both team spirit and provide individual roles that utilize each person's strengths and talents. Furthermore, the company provides a springboard for professional performers to expand their craft by developing leadership opportunities through choreography, coaching, and back-stage skills. By developing both arts and life-skill opportunities, the Southern California Dance Theatre seeks to nurture long-lasting relationships among its members and the company and contribute in preserving the rich culture of the great classical ballet productions.

Good Luck to all applicants,
